Dear [Employee Name],

[Company Name]'s leadership understands that what happens outside work impacts the way we work. That's why we are committed to helping you strengthen what matters most in life - your significant relationships and marriage.

Building a great company doesn't just happen...it takes dedication from employees like you. In the same way, great marriages don't just happen. Even the best of marriages need nourishment to keep the relationship growing and flourishing. That's why we are so excited to share a new benefit here at [Company name] to help your current or future relationship thrive.

[Company Name] would like to offer you a FREE couple's registration [and hotel stay, etc.] for a Weekend to Remember®. It's a perfect weekend for couples who are married, engaged, or in a committed relationship.

Don't worry, there's no small group interaction, no awkward moments, just a weekend free of distractions where you and your significant other can relax, be entertained, and receive some proven and timeless principles on how to take your relationship to the next level. There's a reason it's the longest running and most successful marriage conference in the country.

To see current dates, locations and find out more about the Weekend to Remember – go to: www.familylife.com/weekend.

When you are interested in attending, please email our Corporate Contact, [CC's Name and email address].

We believe when you thrive at home it will only make your experience at [Company Name] more enjoyable.

Warm Regards,

[Company Leadership]
